19th-century classical social theory has been expanded upon to create newer, contemporary social theories such as multilineal theories of evolution (neoevolutionism, sociobiology, theory of modernization, theory of post-industrial society) and various strains of Neo-Marxism.

Social theory -

Wikipedia

Thomas Hobbes (1588-1679) Suggested that people are responsible for creating the social world around them, and thus society could be changed through conscious reflection. Was one of the first theorists to view people as responsible and accountable for the society the created. In his most famous work Leviathan, meaning "monster" or "ruler", Hobbes argued that since people are naturally rational beings, in order to gain peace and protection they would be willing to enter into a ...
