So what does it matter that an old man, the last of the Nazi war criminals, is found dead in Spandau prison? Well, it turns out that no fewer than eight governmental organizations (American, British, East and West German, South African, Israeli, Libyan and Russian) have a vested interest the death of the prisoner formerly known as Rudolf Hess - and it all revolves around a nine-page document that is found by an honest West German police officer. Most of the intricate plot is set up in the ...

World War Two Series by Greg Iles - Goodreads

Spandau Prison was located in the borough of Spandau in western Berlin. It was constructed in 1876 and demolished in August 1987 to prevent it from becoming a neo-Nazi shrine after the death of its last prisoner, Rudolf Hess, who had died from a suspected suicide aged 93. The site was later rebuilt as a shopping centre for the British forces stationed in Germany.
