Cleft Lip And Palate

A cleft is a gap or split in the upper lip and/or roof of the mouth (palate). It is present from birth. The gap is there because parts of the baby's face did not join together properly during development in the womb. A cleft lip and palate is the most common facial birth defect in the UK, affecting around 1 in every 700 babies.

Cleft lip and palate - NHS

Cleft lips and palates occur during the first weeks of development in the womb. The lips are initially formed in three parts and palate in two halves, lying either side of the tongue. Then around the fifth or sixth week of gestation, the lips join, and around the seventh or eighth week the palate joins.
