These giant storms, which form in tropical areas, have an unusual structure. As you approach the center of a hurricane, wind speed increases until you pass through the eye wall (where wind speeds are maximum) and into the eye. Then, the winds calm and the sun shines for a brief time—until the next eye wall arrives. With the Hurricane Motion Gizmo, students view the structure of a hurricane and observe the weather conditions that occur as a hurricane moves over a weather station.
