Japan's Financial Crisis: Institutional Rigidity and ...

The Lost Decade or the Lost 10 Years was a period of economic stagnation in Japan from about 1991 to 2001, caused by the Japanese asset price bubble's collapse in late 1991. The term originally referred to the years from 1991 to 2000, but recently the decade from 2001 to 2010 is often included so that the whole period is referred to as the Lost Score or the Lost 20 Years. Since 2020, it was proposed to also include the decade from 2011 to 2020 as the Lost 30 Years. From 1991 to 2003, the Japanes

Without an accompanying change in institutional flexibility, Japan was unable to adapt to changing conditions and even though experts may have known which changes needed to be made, they would have been virtually powerless to enact those changes without instituting unpopular policies which would have been harmful in the short-term.
