The professional purpose of science education is to introduce students into the conceptual and procedural realms of science. It has been argued that history of science facilitates this introduction. But science education also has a wider purpose which is to help students learn about science – its changing methods, its forms of organization, its methods of proof, its interrelationships with the rest of culture, and so forth. Many, as above, have argued that this requires contextual and ...

The discipline of the history of science (henceforth 'the history of science') concerns the history of the way nature has been manipulated, modelled and understood by different societies. Because the sciences deal with what are taken to be true statements about a natural world that exists independently of human activity, the subject of the history of science seems to resist being historicised in the same way as other topics.
