"In his introduction, Campos (1,000 Ideas for Graffiti and Street Art) argues that manga ought to be considered a philosophy more than a genre, and the book's format reflects this broad view. This inspirational reference presents short interviews with and sample artwork from 100 different artists from Japan and around the world who either work in manga formats themselves or have been strongly influenced by manga art.

This book is a mixed bag which is not surprising considering there are 100 artists featured. The thing about the 1000 Ideas series from Rockport Publishers is that it's not easy to get just top notch artists included. About half the artists are Japanese. Other half are from America, German, UK, etc. Some are professional, some not.
