Nikon provides an autofocus assist light which helps the camera determine autofoucs in low light conditions. To make use of it, the camera must be setup for Single-point autofocus with the center focus point selected or it can be used with the Auto-area matrix style autofocus (closest priority). This can be setup in the menu shown in Figure 2.

One of the biggest complaints about the Nikon DF retro styled camera (other than it doesn't do video) is that it didn't come with (or at least have an option for) an old school split screen manual focus screen. It did seem odd to me that they would make it compatible with any of the older Nikon manual focus lenses but they wouldn't give a great way to focus them.
