So for the DV-383-S,
the product
description's claim that
"if your DVD player ever becomes defective we will fix it for free" is false.

According to Pioneer Customer Service, the only option is to buy a brand-new unit (because the repair
costs exceed the price of the DVD player
itself; replacement is not even an option).

I'm looking for a DVD/DivX player up to about $150. I don't have a huge amount of time to do research, but I did see a Pioneer DV-383 in a shop for $159. No doubt I can get it cheaper. Thoughts on this player? The latest model is now the dv-393 now. It was released only a few weeks ago.
