The First True Lie Marina

The First True Lie by Marina Mander, translated by Stephen Twilley didn't make a lot of sense to me. It takes place over a two week period when young Luca goes about his day to day life while his mother lay rotting in her bedroom. Luca is in grammar school and is well aware that his mother is dead.

The First True Lie: Amazon.co.uk: Mander, Marina, Twilley ...

The First True Lie by Marina Mander takes on an emotional roller-coaster with this heartbreaking yet inspiring novel. Through Luca's narrative, we come to understand why Luca chooses not to tell the world he is no longer only missing a father, but a mother as well. The thing I can't shake about The First True Lie is how beautifully written it is.

The First True Lie By (author) Marina Mander; Translated by Stephen Twilley 'They always tell you that you shouldn't tell lies, but without lies I'd already be in an orphanage. This, in any case, is my first true lie'. Luca and his mum are like two peas in a pod in their special, fragile world.

The First True Lie | Books from Scotland

The First True Lie leads us into Luca's world which, from the start of the novel, mainly consists of the apartment he lives in. Marina Mander created a dull place for Luca's story to take place. You have the feeling that as days go by, the walls are closing in on the little boy and his cat, the air becomes thicker, the light fades.
