The Deans December Saul Bellow

The Dean's December is a surprisingly old-fashioned story of East and West. Corde, the protagonist, is caught between the horrors of living for just a while in Communist Romania and his feelings for home-town Chicago. Most surprising is his point of view as he observes rather than condemns conditions in this tale of two cities.

The Dean's December by Bellow, Saul

Rich yet dry and static, Bellow's somber new book (his first as Nobel laureate) is often more essay than novel: a wintry meditation on death—a death in the family, the death of American cities, the death of the planet—as filtered through the mind of Albert Corde, one of Bellow's least vivid or particularized alter egos. Former full-time journalist, now dean at a Chicago university and ...
