Alan Turing and his Contemporaries - British Computer Society

Alan Turing was clearly a man ahead of his time. In 1950, at the dawn of computing, he was already grappling with the question: "Can machines think?" This was at a time when the first general purpose computers had only just been built. The term artificial intelligence had not even been coined. John McCarthy would come up with the term in 1956, two years after Alan Turing’s untimely death. Yet ...
