Shadows of Reality

The Fourth Dimension in Relativity, Cubism, and Modern Thought Yale University Press

In this insightful book, which is a revisionist math history as well as a revisionist art history, Tony Robbin, well known for his innovative computer visualizations of hyperspace, investigates different models of the fourth dimension and how these are applied in art and physics. Robbin explores the distinction between the slicing, or Flatland, model and the projection, or shadow, model. He compares the history of these two models and their uses and misuses in popular discussions. Robbin breaks new ground with his original argument that Picasso used the projection model to invent cubism, and that Minkowski had four-dimensional projective geometry in mind when he structured special relativity. The discussion is brought to the present with an exposition of the projection model in the most creative ideas about space in contemporary mathematics such as twistors, quasicrystals, and quantum topology. Robbin clarifies these esoteric concepts with understandable drawings and diagrams. Robbin proposes that the powerful role of projective geometry in the development of current mathematical ideas has been long overlooked and that our attachment to the slicing model is essentially a conceptual block that hinders progress in understanding contemporary models of spacetime. He offers a fascinating review of how projective ideas are the source of some of today's most exciting developments in art, math, physics, and computer visualization.

The Fourth Dimension

Truth Or Deception?

Dr. Robert Lee Bell's book, The Fourth Dimension: Truth or Deception? is a very well-researched and balanced study on the teachings of Yonggi Cho. It is indeed a need in this age to explore the dangers of the man-centered theology that Apostle Paul warned against in II Timothy 3:1-9. Dr. Bell has compared Cho's theology with the Scriptures and it is very clear that Cho's theology is a synthesis of Christianity, shamanism, and occult practices; a deceptive mixture of error and truth which appears Christian. Cho takes Scripture out of context and twists it to conform to a preunderstood paradigm
