Chapter 1: Worlds in Motion, 1450-1550. Overview. When the European, African, and Native American worlds came in contact with one another it was as if three pebbles had been tossed into a pond. The players' actions and reactions set into motion events that changed the world. The first century of contact established new power structures (both between and within the groups), new economic strategies, and new patterns of behavior towards one another that continued for centuries.
