I do believe in the quiet hero who subtly changes the way life is. Rosa Parks is my kind of hero. What she did was to refuse to be put down as a lesser human being. She refused to stand on the bus when there was a seat that she was not allowed to use. This simple little book reflects perfectly my kind of hero. Rosa's words are gentle and meaningful.

"That quiet strength is, I think, the common denominator," Fagan said of the two women he sculpted. "Rosa Parks definitely showed it with her actions and through her own life, and the same with Mother Teresa." Fagan, 45, based the hat Parks wears in his sculpture on the one she was wearing in the iconic photo of her on the bus in 1955.
