Who Called The First Assembly In Chapter 8

The first World Health Assembly was attended by delegations from all but two of WHO's 48 Member States. There were several observers: from nine non-Member States, military administrations, the United Nations and five agencies, and two health agencies which were in many respects precursors to WHO: the Pan American Sanitary Organization and the Office International d'Hygiene Publique.

Last Modified Date: October 16, 2020. The first assembly line was set up in the automobile industry at the beginning of the 20th century. An early version of the assembly line was used by Ransom Eli Olds starting in 1901 in the production of an automobile known as the Curved Dash Olds. Later, this first assembly line concept was improved by the use of the conveyor belt in the mass production of cars by Ford.
