Count to a Trillion by John C. Wright - Goodreads

There are 31,536,000 seconds in a 365 day year, and one trillion divided by 31,536,000 is approximately 31,710. So it looks like that's where the estimate of over 31,000 years to count to one trillion came from: it's based on an assumption that a person is counting one number each second. But let's think about this a little.
