The 1968 3 cylinder OMC was first made as a 55 hp. It was the first looper OMC put in production. It was a technological marvel, flagship model, of it's day. I have owned one, all original, and they are truly great motors. My question revolves around the ignition system. It consists of: an "amplifier". an under flywheel distributor, a hv coil and two sets of points under the flywheel.
