Definition: An argument is a group of statements some of which, the premises, are offered in support of another statement, the conclusion. You can think of the premises of an argument as reasons that are given in support of a view, which is expressed in the conclusion of the argument. Let's see a very simple example of an argument:

A crucial part of critical thinking is to identify, construct, and evaluate arguments. In everyday life, people often use "argument" to mean a quarrel between people. But in logic and critical thinking, an argument is a list of statements, one of which is the conclusion and the others are the premises or assumptions of the argument.
