Introduction. In recent years, an intense debate has taken place in many jurisdictions regarding the appropriateness and benefits of establishing specialised international commercial courts – that is, national judicial bodies set up to suit the specific demands and needs of international commercial litigation.

Specialised commercial courts with jurisdiction over ...

Commercial Litigation. Modern commercial litigation is complex, fast-moving and international. Barristers therefore need to be intelligent and proactive. They also need to be experienced in the law and practice of different jurisdictions. New Square Chambers has expertise at all levels of call in commercial disputes in the High Court and county courts in the UK, particularly in the Chancery Division and the Commercial Court.

Commercial Litigation - New Square Chambers

International litigation, sometimes called transnational litigation, is the practice of litigation in connection with disputes among businesses or individuals residing or based in different countries. The main difference between international litigation and domestic litigation is that, in the former, certain issues are more likely to be of significance — such as personal jurisdiction, service of process, evidence from abroad, and enforcement of judgments.

International litigation - Wikipedia

Of course, with a non-exclusive jurisdiction clause, there will always be a risk that a party could end up defending proceedings in an unfavourable (or just inconvenient) jurisdiction. Many commercial parties, such as banks, now use a hybrid of exclusive and non-exclusive jurisdiction clauses to deal with some of the above issues.

About the Jurisdiction Project. In 1992, the Hague Conference on Private International Law (HCCH) commenced work on two key aspects of private international law in cross-border litigation in civil and commercial matters: the international jurisdiction of courts; and the recognition and enforcement of foreign judgments (the Judgments Project).
