Overview. The cigarette is the deadliest artifact in the history of human civilization. It is also one of the most beguiling, thanks to more than a century of manipulation at the hands of tobacco industry chemists. In Golden Holocaust, Robert N. Proctor draws on reams of formerly-secret industry documents to explore how the cigarette came to be the most widely-used drug on the planet, with six trillion sticks sold per year.

Golden Holocaust: Origins of the Cigarette Catastrophe and ...

The title speaks to Proctor's outrage; "the golden holocaust" refers to the millions dead prematurely because of cigarettes made from golden cured tobacco leaves. Readers accustomed to the neutral and objective tone of most academic texts may be initially put off by the intensity of Dr. Proctor's prose, but it will be the rare reader who can get far into the volume without sharing his sense of outrage.
