The Political Theatre by Erwin Piscator - Goodreads

It was he who devised the concept of an epic theatre, only for Brecht to later become synonymous with its name. An innovator of epic, documentary, and political theatre forms, plus a pioneer in the use of projection and film use in stage productions, Erwin Piscator was one of the major theatre practitioners of the 20th century.

Erwin Piscator Biography | The Drama Teacher

Having studied at the König school of dramatic art and at the university, Piscator began as a volunteer at the Hof Theater in Munich; he became in turn an actor and a director. Working in Berlin during the Weimar Republic (1919–33), Piscator frankly used the theatre to convey radical political instruction. Although he was not a communist, he sympathized at the time with the German working class.

Erwin Piscator | German dramatist | Britannica

by Justin Cash · Published January 7, 2017 · Updated June 10, 2020. German theatre director Erwin Piscator (1893-1966) may not have been the first person to use projected images or film in stage plays, but he was certainly a pioneer in this area and one of the first to do so successfully. All this makes perfect sense when we consider Piscator was the dominant theatre director in Berlin in the 1920s.
