In Dialogue With Nature Press

The Dialogue with Nature is a short philosophical satire motivated by Dr. John-Okoria's love for nature and concern over humanity's role in the degradation of the environment.. This dialogue expounds the introspections of a socialite engaged in a transcendental experience that challenges her assumptions as a human being of a particular socioeconomic status.

The discourse between nature and grace finds its linguistic and existential podium in the political condition of human beings. As Caitlin Smith Gilson shows, it is in this arena that the perennial territorial struggle of faith and reason, God and man, man and state, take place; and it is here that the understanding of the personal-as-political, as well as the political-as-personal, finds its meaning.
