I received a copy of Like One: Poems For Boston last week and finished it today. It's an anthology created in the aftermath of the Boston Marathon bombings. These poems aren't reactions to, or about, those horrific events; rather, they're more uplifting, to help with healing. The book's proceeds will raise money towards The One Fund.

I should like to send you a sunbeam, or the twinkle of some bright star, or a tiny piece of the downy fleece that clings to a cloud afar. I should like to send you the essence of a myriad sun-kissed flowers, or the lilting song as it floats along, of a brook through fairy bowers. I should like to send you the dew-drops that glisten at break of day,
