Evaluation is an important tool for improving management. Through organizational assessment - commonly known as evaluation - the effectiveness of an organization is measured in terms of its functioning, problems and achievements from both the behavioural and social system points of view (Lawler, Nadler and Cammann, 1980).

Reading note: Organizational evaluation

An organisational assessment is a systematic process for obtaining valid information about the performance of an organisation and the factors that affect performance. It differs from other types of evaluations because the assessment focuses on the organisation as the primary unit of analysis. Organisations are constantly trying to adapt, survive, perform and influence.
