Reading books about colonialism in Africa from an african perspective is revelatory. What europe teaches or rather forgets to teach is the whole story and the great harm that was caused. As european people who did not live in colonial times we don't see ourselves being connected to the problems in Africa but we are.

infrastructural development. However, Boahen challenges this perspective and argues that the loss of sovereignty as a result of colonialism, made Africa to loose self determination with regards to modernization and development. Boahen argues that "This is one of the fundamental causes of Africa's underdevelopment and technological backwardness" (Boahen 100).
