The catechism of the Catholic Church says that hell is more of a 'state' than a 'place', and that souls aren't actually sent to a place where they are tortured by fire (or anything else). Rather, they create their own "hell" by a persistent refusal to accept the love of God. The church says nothing about how many souls might be in this state.

Raising Hell: Christianity's Most Controversial Doctrine ...

Raising Hell: Christianity's Most Controversial Doctrine Put Under Fire, by Julie Ferwerda, published in 2011, is an outstanding book on God's love, grace, mercy, and justice. The author of this excellent book is a layperson, not a seminary graduate. As a seminary-educated ordained minister, it is evident to me that she is a very serious and capable student of the Holy Bible which she believes is the Word of God.
