My 2008 F90 idles too high when it gets all the way up to operating temp. It almost never does it in the first ten minutes of use. It nearly always does it when it's been running hard for ten minutes. Often turning it off and restarting it will fix the problem. Usually I have to do that several times. Also, after letting it run at that high idle (usually 1800RPMs), it will then idle down--it ...
