Technically, for handicapping purposes you can't 'no return'. But if you are playing nine holes, you must complete all nine holes. If you only play five, the score is disregarded because we haven't got enough holes to say this is a reflective score. If you are playing an 18-hole round, you must return a score on at least 10 holes.

Once you get used to this approach you will be handicapping a race in 5 minutes, remember you do not need to bet on every race!! This approach works equally well for laying and in running trading, if you use the information with pace figures your selection is much more qualified for a back to lay or lay to back, hope this is useful, works for me extremely well lay dutching.

How Handicapping Works in Horse Racing (Beating the System)

A handicap of course indicates the number of strokes that a golfer receives at a particular golf course. It can be thought of as an adjustment to a golfer's handicap that takes the difficulty of a golf course into account. It is the number of strokes that should be deducted from a golfer's gross score to determine net score.
