Back to Venice Michael Grant

Imagine what it would be like to go back in time to the 15th century Venice. And imagine what it would be like to meet your lifelong hero, Michelangelo. And imagine what it would be like if, on first meeting, you spill a tray of pasta and wine on that very same hero. Well, that's what happens to serious young artist Mark Breen. As the result of a drunken bet, Mark knocks out a painting of a toilet bowl. Much to his amazement, he sells it. In short order he's hailed as the new Andy Warhol and becomes an overnight sensation—and a very wealthy man. Soon, images of his toilet bowls are on more t-shirts, mugs, and calendars than Edvard Munch's The Scream. His friend and mentor, Hugh Connelly, afraid that Mark is in danger of losing his "artistic soul," advises him to go back to Italy and reacquire himself with the "old masters." In Venice, Mark falls in love with Alexandra, a beautiful art restorer, but it's a one-sided affair. One night, hoping to win her over, he climbs up on a roof to find out who painted her favorite fresco. He falls off the roof and wakes up in 15th century Venice where he meets an innkeeper named Francesca, who looks exactly like Alexandra. And it gets curiously and curiously from there. During his stay—which is sometimes zany and sometimes frightening—he meets his hero, Michelangelo, who teaches him the true meaning of art.

But when chance brings her older half-brother, Akira, to the estate that is his inheritance and destiny, Nori finds in him an unlikely ally with whom she forms a powerful bond—a bond their formidable grandparents cannot allow and that will irrevocably change the lives they were always meant to lead. Because now that Nori has glimpsed a world in which perhaps there is a place for her after all, she is ready to fight to be a part of it—a battle that just might cost her everything. Spanning decades and continents, Fifty Words for Rain is a dazzling epic about the ties that bind, the ties that give you strength, and what it means to be free.

Daughter Of Rain

"Hope is a sanctuary of the soul - a sacred place of lightness of being and of knowing. It's the firm conviction that the cold, quiet distance between the darkest of valley nights and the brightest of heavenly stars, is nothing but... time. The time it takes to decide that reaching up and grabbing hold of those stars is not only possible, but also adventurous and significant." Corné Smith Ten fingers, ten toes. A sigh of relief... At no other time during our earthly sojourn do human beings attach so much significance to the number 10. It represents the perfect score - the answer to every parent's prayers - a perfectly healthy newborn baby. But what if their worst fears come true? What if their baby is born 'imperfect'? For first time parents, Corné and Michelle Smith, their hopes and dreams for a perfectly well child were beaten to a pulp when they received the heart breaking news that their beautiful daughter, Tahlia, had been born with a medically incurable brain-injury. In an instant they were flung onto a physical, emotional and spiritual battlefield, facing colossal giants very few parents ever do, together with their brave child. As they grappled with Tahlia's neurological, developmental and physical condition, their valley of despair and depression, onslaughts to their marriage and many other giants, they discovered the big WHY of their battle. And they witnessed how their Heavenly Father not only prepared them for this war, but also fought alongside them. This book, as chronicled by Corné and illustrated by Michelle, is their story of courage, faith, hope, love, restoration and victory over a season of unspeakable pain and hurt. Can their story help and teach others how to face their own giants and, chapter-by-chapter, uncover their WHY? The secret lies hidden inside.
