"Silent Messages" -- Description and Ordering Information

Simple vocabulary Nonverbal Messages

The power of nonverbal communication cannot be underestimated. In his book, Silent Messages, Professor Albert Mehrabian says the messages we send through our posture, gestures, facial expression, and spatial distance account for 55% of what is perceived and understood by others.

Choose your words with the intent of making your message ...

The Mehrabian formula comes from two studies in nonverbal communication carried out by Mehrabian and two colleagues in 1967. To summarize, Mehrabian's studies asked participants to judge the feelings of a speaker by listening to a recording of a single word spoken in different tones of voice. Yes, one single word.
