Take the innocuously named Question 6, which is so complex, it can bring mathematicians to tears. As mathematician Simon Pampena explains the Numberphile video above, the Legend of Question 6 spawned from a maths competition for high-schoolers held in Australia in 1988. (Yep, they make 'em tough down here.) The competition was the International Mathematical Olympiad, which is held every year in a different country, and only six kids from every country are selected to compete.
