The following year, 1994 was no different, apart from the usual new colour options and it is testament to the design of the GL1500 that Honda could get away with no major modifications for so long. The GL1500 was so far ahead of the competition in design and specification that it was still selling like hot cakes. Nevertheless, the Goldwing community was becoming impatient for change.

In 1987 Honda introduced the all new GL1500 GoldWing in America and launched it in Europe at the Cologne motorcycle show. With the 1987 GL1200 Aspencade (America/Canadian models) Honda offered the bike with more bodywork, so the next step was a fully enclosed design. With all the bodywork flowing from the front of the bike to the back, nothing looked like an add-on and the bike was bigger in ...
