I picked up This Other Eden on the recommendations of several GR friends, and didn't expect to like it as much as I did. If more historical romance was like this, I'd read more historical romance. The novel starts with young Marianne Locke about to be publicly whipped for defying the local lord, Thomas Eden. After this punishment, a traumatized Marianne is shipped off to live with her jealous ...

THIS OTHER EDEN is a captivating narrative of seven great gardens, beautiful canvases that represent not just pleasure grounds but a country's evolution. Showpieces of grand design, they are also barometers of social change; lasting reflections of intellectual endeavour, of religion and philosophy, science and technology, art and literature. From Robert Cecil's garden at Hatfield House ...

Andrea Wulf: This Other Eden

Eden is a family-fun day-out place, and one very much in the tradition long established by London's Science Museum, a place to pull levers and push buttons. Its an incredible learning place, with interpretation second to none, with the didactic very often taking the form of elaborate, colourful and whacky art installations.
