Critical Analysis Of Eveline By

Eveline: analysis Like many stories in Dubliners, 'Eveline' explores the relationship between the past and the future by examining a single person's attitude to their life in Dublin. Joyce was interested in this relationship, and believed that Ireland - which often had a habit of nostalgically looking backwards and holding onto the past - needed to progress and strive to bring itself up to date.

A Summary and Analysis of James Joyce's 'Eveline ...

Analysis Eveline, a nineteen-year-old woman in Dublin, is sitting with her head against the curtains, watching dusk fall on her street. She notices that it smells like "dusty cretonne" (heavy fabric used for upholstery) and that she is tired. There is hardly anyone outside, but she notices a man who lives in the last house walking home.
